Subject: 'Regulation of Retail Forex'

I'm a novice trader and I believe that changing the leverage amounts "again" would destroy the U.S. retail forex market and that's falls into the category of a weaker U.S economy. Small voices can't always be heard but the more voices the louder the echo ID number RIN 3038-AC61 .

P.S. I hope I made my point in this short letter to you guys behind the big desks to please take it easy on us little people and leave the leverage amounts alone.
