

From: alejandro lara <alexlarb@msn.com>
Sent: Tuesday, January 19, 2010 12:05 PM
To: secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov>
Subject: 10.1 LEVERAGE on Forex

I am writing in concern of the new proposal on changing the amount of leverage to 10.1 on Forex , I believe is the most ridiculous thing to do me as a trader the only thing I am going to do is to move my money outside the US , I don't understand why this change ? if you are doing this so new traders can have less risk is totally wrong , it is totally acceptable to have risk when you are investing if people don't want to have risk don't invest , I don't believe is right to make this changes just to try to protect people from not losing money is impossible , investing has risks , its enough to try to control everything , people should make their own decision on leverage and manage their own risk .

Hope this changes never go forward , for the best for all.

Alex Lara

Mcallen , Tx