

From: mlg@matrixxdg.com
Sent: Tuesday, February 23, 2010 1:24 PM
To: secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov>
Subject: Public Comment Form

Below is the result of your feedback form. It was submitted by (mlg@matrixxdg.com) on Tuesday, February 23, 2010 at 13:24:28

commenter_subject: 75 FR 3281 FX proposed rule commenter_frdate: 02/23/2010

commenter_frpage: 75 FR 3281

commenter_comments: If this rule is implemented then the "Little Guy" like myself will be forced out of the retail forex market in the US. I am going to retire in three years and plan to trade full time. I will move my retirement fund to my trading acct at that time.

If you choose to implement this margin rule it will not stop me from trading, it will only force me to close my US account and move all my money overseas to a Cypress or UK account.

In the current economic times that we have now, is it really a smart idea to put even more people out of work? I do not think so.

Please leave the margin requirement the same or no less that 100:1 or 200:1

Thanks..MG

commenter_name: Mike Greer

commenter_firm: none

commenter_withhold_address_on: ON commenter_address1: 19118 crystola Park

commenter_city: Spring

commenter_state: Tx

commenter_zip: 77373

commenter_fax: none

commenter_phone: 713-825-2300
