Subject: Regulation of Retail Forex---RN3038-AC61

Mr. Secretary:

This is in response to the proposed changes in the subject matter noted above. Trading Forex is one method by which those of us that are too old or otherwise incapable of employment that are able to pick up a little income, especially in these tough economic times. This proposed change would eliminate us small traders and benefit the BIG BOYS, those that have large bankrolls that can well afford the large leverage amounts. We small traders have to scalp the market because we cannot afford the large draw downs on our trades. I would hope you will take this into consideration in your decision to revamp this regulation and keep the existing leverage amounts in place.

Sincerely, Clarence Scobee
