

From: Ken Crawley <kenc@sc.rr.com>
Sent: Thursday, March 4, 2010 12:45 PM
To: secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov>
Subject: Regulation of Retail Forex

Dear sir:

I have been a forex trader for over 4 years. I went into trading forex with my eyes open and selected a rationale leverage of 100:1.

The proposed rule to limit the leverage to 10:1 is utterly insane. The only way to truly have a liquid market is to have the largest number of participants....going to the proposed leverage will do just the opposite.

The reason I really love trading the forex market is to watch carefully the stupid, foolhardy actions of governments and then make money off their ineptitude!

Is it possible our government is trying to restrict trading based on my observation stated above? Surely no one in their right mind would run our government the way it is being run. Just as sure as night follows day the chickens are coming home to roost. I will be judiciously trading in forex picking the plums that have been provided by the illogical actions.

I state again: I AM AGAINST RESTRICTING THE LEVERAGE IN FOREX TO 10:1. Allow the little man a chance to trade like anyone else!

Ken Crawley
843.450.4433