Subject: Regulations proposal of Retail Forex

David Stawick,

In regards to: RIN 3038-AC61

I trade the Forex and also help with education services surrounding the Forex. It is my considered opinion after thoroughly reviewing the proposed regulations that this would hurt the majority of Forex traders. By and large we are very educated in strategy and all the implications and risks of trading this market. This proposal seems focused on the unsophisticated and uneducated traders who shouldn't be in the Forex to begin with. I would strongly encourage you to review the people that trade the Forex and get a better feel for their competence and then revise the proposal accordingly.

Truly,
Chris
