RIN 3038-AC61

Dear Sir,

Please note that I agree with limitations on leverage in all markets including Forex for both retail and institutional investors. But letting institutional investors escape limitations such as these creates unfair playing fields with retail investors which I am not in favor of. Big investment firms are doing America a huge disservice to think that $500 trillion plus dollars of derivative assets is anything more than make-believe. So please do not limit my leverage when institutional investors are the real cause of catastrophic consequences.

Sincerely, Chris Uhler
