

From: agent86 <safebiz@comcast.net>
Sent: Tuesday, March 9, 2010 7:31 AM
To: secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov>
Subject: RE: Regulation of Retail Forex-RIN 3038-AC61

---

Hi

Regarding the 10:1 proposal for changing the forex markets

Please consider this will hurt most small traders. Even those who trade for entertainment purposes. They will resort to playing in Vegas Gambling instead.

Those who are used to trading 100:1 and have strategies based on this, will not be able to afford to put more money into the market to open positions.

Those who are entertainment traders surely would not increase the equity size and simply take their $500 or so into the Gambling arena.

Essentially all this will do is kill the trading pool and less people will be willing to put money into the market. And this will hurt the value of currency as well.

Please Consider this
Thanks
Steve Cunningham
301-327-9005