Subject: Regulation of Retail Forex

RE: RIN 3038-AC61

If you change the leverage in the retail forex market from 100:1 to 10:1, you will effectively be eliminating thousands of retail forex traders with small accounts. I personally am trading forex to replace all the retirement money my husband and I lost in the housing crash and economic turndown. I would not have enough money to trade if you change the leverage. Your proposal would hurt a lot of people. Please don't change the leverage.

Thank You
