

From: dennis george <filletman@roadrunner.com>
Sent: Tuesday, January 19, 2010 5:01 PM
To: secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov>
Subject: Regulation of Retail Forex RIN 3038-AC61

Dear David Stawick,

The pending new regulation on forex margin requirements I believe would hinder a person's ability to make money in this market.

There are repeated warnings from the retail forex houses about watching what you leverage. This market isn't one to be entered in without knowing the risks.

I started trading 4 years ago and have gone through the school of hard knocks. I totally understood the risks, and elect to keep the account going.

I understand the new regulation is meant to protect us from ourselves, but I sure hope you just leave things as they are.

Thank You,
Dennis George