

From: David Goddard <npbtrader@yahoo.com>
Sent: Tuesday, January 19, 2010 8:13 PM
To: secretary <secretary@CFTC.gov>
Subject: More restricitons for Forex?

As a professional trader I am continually dumbfounded with the CFTC constant meddling in the US Forex market.

I almost seems like you are trying to push Forex traders away from US brokers? Why would you wants this? The US would receive less tax income, jobs will be lost and business will be closed.

Reducing margin ratios would be a big mistake, it will not protect anyone, it will only restrict success, wealth and progress....oh wait a minute thats what government does, I'm sorry I forgot the government like to screw everyone with useless and inept rules and regulations..what was I thinking.

I will move my accounts out of the US if you proceed with this.

David Goddard